Senate Agenda Full

By Fred Gonnerman

Student Senate will convene Monday in its Luther hall office to act on a full agenda including action on election procedures, cafeteria meal tickets and a new cheer-leading program.

Senate action on the election procedure question will be number one item on the list. Senators will ponder the results of the most recent legislative session.

It is that connection and attempt to arrive at a course of action to be followed in the future on that basis.

Amendment Not Needed

Preferential balloting is favored by many of the senators and has proved successful in recent elections, particularly state-wide. However, the body does not feel that a constitutional amendment is in order at this time.

A special ballot for class presidents will probably be approved for future elections. This would enable students desiring to run for student body president, or for class presidency, to do so without risking being elected to the presidency.

Motion To Report

Del Hutton, National Student association committee co-chairman, will report to the Senate on certain problems existing on campus in connection with the Senate probe into the local cafeteria problem.

Also to be discussed at the meeting is a new cheer-leading program to be presented by Jim Sorenson, senior. Sorenson will suggest a list of qualifications for future cheer-leaders and a point system for making awards to the yellsters.

Pres. Eric Bleederman once again invited anyone with grievances to air them at the Monday meeting.

Classes For Sale

Nowon file in the studio of KWAB in the Little Theater is a solution to the class-cutting dilemma.

Eric Stengen, senior, and Gary Volberg, sophomore, decided that listening to Charles Doane's lecture on play production Tuesday afternoon was going to be just another chore in a long, wet winter. So they concocted a plan to put their knowledge at their own convenience.

They concealed a microphone in the upstairs lecture room and set up the tape recorder downstairs and sat back leisurely while the entire class was run on record for posterity.

Strong and Volberg are now advertising cut-rate prices for anyone desiring to audit a course in play production.

Campus Carnival Planned For March 20

Date for the campus carnival was set for March 20 this year as further plans for the annual college festival were revealed by Jerry Ristau, senior, and Wayne Weissenbuehler, freshman, co-chairmen of the event.

The carnival will have its one-night "run" the Saturday following mid-winter break.

Homes Being Contested

Weissenbuehler announced that the heads of campus organizations are being contacted and that a committee on decorations is to be appointed. He said that something in the way of special entertainment will be continued.

March 1 has been set by the committee as the deadline for applications for booths for the affair. Before this time organizational heads must submit complete specifications for proposed booths including size, location, cost and what materials are to be used. Booths will be placed in the carnival box in the Student Senate office. In case of duplication of ideas the first application will be accepted.

Alm—Enjoyable Event

It is our aim to make this a really enjoyable event for Wartburg," said Weissenbuehler, "and we want every organization to take an active part in it."

The carnival will be a non-profit affair—if any profits should be made they will be evenly distributed by the groups.

Governor Aspirant, Lynes Talks Thurs.

Candidate for the Republican nomination for the governorship of Iowa, William (Bill) Lynes, will give the address at convocation Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Knights gym.

Born in Plainfield 60 years ago, Lynes has been elected to Iowa's House of Representatives four times. He has been Speaker of the House for the past two terms.

A registered drainage engineer by profession, Lynes was one of three engineers recommended by the government of Ireland to survey certain sections of Ireland for drainage purposes. He is the author of a book on the subject, which has received worldwide circulation.

Convocation speaker on Tuesday will be the Rev. Raymond A. Vogeler, executive director of the American Lutheran church board of parish education.

College Told Of Acceptance At 11:40 Friday In Chicago

By Cy Wainscott

Wartburg's application for accreditation by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education was approved yesterday at the association meeting in Chicago's Morrison hotel.

In a special call to the TRUMPET, President C. H. Becker, who traveled to the windy city with Dean A. E. Haefner and Dr. Martin Wiederaenders to meet with AACTE, revealed that the application was approved at 11:40 a.m. yesterday.

Acceptance by AACTE places Wartburg among 280 similarly accredited institutions in the country and gives it the unique distinction of being the only Lutheran college in the nation with such accreditation. It also paves the way for automatic acceptance by the newly-created National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Reports Considered

Report of a four-man AACTE inspection team which visited the campus in mid-December and an 80-page report by the administration were considered by the association in reaching its decision.

It was also noted that since the inspection team was at Wartburg a new major, English, was added to the curriculum. This was strongly recommended by AACTE.

Commented Dr. Haefner, "recognition by AACTE means the assurance that their programs of study here at Wartburg conform to the best standards which are to be found in the country. Superintendents who encourage our teacher graduates will now find Wartburg college listed among the accredited institutions."

Move Second Step

The move by AACTE marks a second big step in the advance of the teacher education department which was approved by the North Central Association since 1948.

Dr. Haefner went on to say, "The teaching department is not the only department to benefit by the move—the whole school will gain within the near future."

Wartburg's present teaching department faculty includes, besides Dr. Wiederaenders, Mrs. Walmut Fruehling, Miss Hazel May Snyder and Herbert Max.

Tales Out This Week

Castle Tales, campus literary magazine, will be off the presses and ready for sale early next week according to Ted Fritschel, editor.

Deadline for the spring issue has been set at March 12.

By B. F. Mirtz

Wartburg's teacher education department is now at its highest peak since Dr. Martin Wiederaenders helped establish the department 20 years ago. The department's acceptance by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, however, may have passed.

Although the department has been accredited by the Iowa State Board of Educational Examiners since 1932, the acceptance by the national group will further increase the value of a degree from Wartburg. This, in itself, means more advantages for the entire college with its call for wider curriculum.

Students Attracted

However, the teacher education program has not always been complete nor extensive in the past. In 1928, enrollment was at a low ebb, with the introduction of teachers' courses under Dr. Wiederaenders' direction more students were attracted.

"In 1928 Dr. Wiederaenders was the only main teaching point that Wartburg college should not be merely a 'preacher factory' but a true liberal arts college," said Dr. A. E.

Haefner Program Helps Coeducation

Besides mushrooming enrollment, the introduction of teacher education also helped institute coeducation on the Wartburg campus. The teacher education program, enrolling nearly all of the women students were registered as future tutors.

Early beginners were small and difficult but grew with wider and more comprehensive program. In 1930 the first five teachers graduated; then in 1932 came state accreditation. This was followed by departmental accreditation in 1935. In 1935 a momentary setback in enrollment was suffered by moving the college from Clinton to Waverly.

Dr. Wiederaenders In Charge

From the first the program has been under the supervision of Dr. Wiederaenders now in his 35th year. He is also the man who has had largely responsible for its growth and constant improvement. With 26 of his 35 years spent in the educational department, Dr. Wiederaenders has worked with the nearly 800 students to complete the teacher education course since its start.

He said, "We are trying to seek continuous improvement of our curricula and keep abreast with the times—that's our program," stated Dr. Wiederaenders.

A typical class at Clinton, Wartburg is shown. An example of what education was like before introduction of teaching courses brought the advent of coeducation.

Let's Examine Our Own Faith!

During the past week everyone on campus was theoretically being "spiritually emphasized." Perhaps some people were helped by the three-day retreat; maybe others were offended. People are different enough so that one approach by one person will not necessarily have the same effect on all.

But one question was certainly raised—how much do we really know about our own religious beliefs? Do we know what it means to be a Christian? Do we have a sincere conviction that everything we do in connection with our religion is not only what we are told to do, but is that which we know in our souls to be the right thing?

Actually, there is nothing really complex in all these questions. Christianity is simple enough to include almost every human being. At the same time, it is profound enough to include among its followers men of great genius. Christianity, in its pure form, is a beautiful relief for all the tragedy and sorrow of the world.

Why, then, IS there tragedy and sorrow in the world? There is no simple reply to this. There are all elements of evil except outside the realm of Christianity—and they will always exist while the world is more than a few wisps of dust. But not to be ignored are the elements of evil within the church—the legalists, pharisees, maniacs, do-gooders—all the people who should, but don't know better.

Christianity is NOT a set of moral standards. For this one negative reason it differs from any other religion in the world. Christianity is above all a personal relationship between a humble man and his omniscient, all-powerful Creator. Anything beyond that becomes an end result rather than a means to an end.

A Christian is a person who accepts. He admits that with all the scientific power of mankind he cannot alone seek out his salvation. Therefore he abjectly calls out, "Forgive me, Lord, for I am a sinner," and accepts the overpowering love and grace of his Father. He ACCEPTS IT. He doesn't demand it, bargain for it or earn it.

This is the great wonder of the Christian religion. In all others a man must work for his salvation—his actions become the means by which he earns some reward. But the Christian is offered eternal happiness after death on a silver platter, and when he accepts it he tries to live justly as an end result of that acceptance.

So all the people within the church who pass the word around that one thing and another must be done to please God are forgetting or neglecting the only truth we know... God alone judges man concerning his spiritual status. No set of laws, no code of morals is valid excuse for heresy accusations or cries of "Sinner!"

By the same token, inhuman object is either evil or just. It is placed on earth by God without Satan's help. Man is the only evil, and even he has a spark of goodness in him. And he is offered his salvation... because God sent His Son to the for mortal man.

This is the essence of Christianity, which will never be replaced by the "apostles of discord."

Footnotes To Faith:

Faith Must Be Exercised, Accentuated

By The Rev. Karl Schmidt
Christianity Dept.

Faith is a gift of God. It is also practical. The latter statement must find a place among the "footnotes to faith." It dare not be lost there.

In the sermon on the mount, Jesus gave us an invaluable lesson on anxious cares. Anxious cares. He says, are a "Gentile" trait. They are irreligious. Faith is the characteristic of the saint.

If we conclude that faith is a gift of God and no more, we might also quickly deduce the conviction that either he or she does not have faith. In either case there would much one can do about it. That is the point at

footnote comes

in. Faith is also practical.

46 and 91 or Romans 8, are an exercise in faith if we yield ourselves to God's assurance. To go into the details of the matter, the main task is to make tasks and, under God, to accentuate the positive—these are exercises in faith which God himself has created in us.

Negative emotions, thoughts and behavior can destroy God's most precious gift to us, our faith. So exercise it.

STAFF SQUEAKS

EDUCATION MAKES ONE realize how little he knows. Socrates was said to be the wisest man in the world because he claimed he knew nothing and KNEW IT.

STUDENTS OF BEGINNING psychology at San Diego State College were asked recently to write down what they considered to be their "most valuable asset." Two answered "intelligence" — and both misspelled it.

STUDENTS BACK individual efforts to alleviate the causes sometimes mentioned. They have set up for the unpublicized off-campus dance last week and everyone is invited to attend. The theme for Christian acquaintanceship in spite of weak strains from the records.

Cagers At BV After 89-68 Win

By Ken Stark

Wartburg hoopers move on to Storm Lake tonight for a conference tilt with Buena Vista after romping past Westmar at Le Mars last night, 89-68.

The Axmen trounced the Beavers on the home floor two weeks ago, 78-40, with a conference record of four wins against three losses. Wartburg will be out to capture a second-place share in the northern division of the Iowa conference, pending the outcome of the Luther-Westmar game. In weapons, the Beavers have beaten Upper Iowa and Westmar and are now holding down fourth place in the league.

Knights Lead Early

In the lone-spared game at Le Mars, the Knights were up early on a costly advantage and held a 24-17 first-period lead. Suddenly, adding its margin, Wartburg, with Barry Bomhoff and Bob Adix directing the attack, built up a 45-30 halftime cushion.

Westmar was as frigid as the Knights were hot in the first half, making good on only 12 of 38 attempts from the field. The Axmen hit on nearly half their shots as they cashed in on 21 of 45 attempts.

All 10 See Action

Wartburg emerged in seven shots from the field in the initial half which saw all 10 of the Knight traveling squad see action. In the second stanza Wartburg split the game wide open, outscoring the Beavers 51-31.

Wartburg continued to set a torrid pace in the last half as the entire Knight team saw repeated action. Bomhoff and Dale Kuehne sparked the Axmen, directing them to a 64-45 third-quarter lead. Both teams collected 10 points in the final period last half. Westmar, which used four freshmen in its starting contingent, controlled both backboards but could not cope with the visitors' marksmanship.

Bomhoff Hits 21

Bomhoff led Knight scorers with 21 markers while Eagle Dan Muykens enjoyed high-point honors for the Beavers with 15. Adix had 20 tallies and Kuehne followed closely with 14.

Hitting their best shooting percentage of the year, the Knights poured in field goals at a 42 per cent clip. Out of 100 attempts they made goals on 37. Westmar could manage only 20 field goals in 74 tries.

Norse Run Away With Laurels, 69-51, As Axmen's First Period Proves Fatal

By Ken Stark

Luther's Norkies piled up their seventh consecutive conference victory with a 69-51 win over the two-bit tag spot in the northern division of the Iowa conference with a decisive 69-51 victory over Wartburg at Decorah last Saturday.

The Knights fell behind, 19-9, at the end of the initial stanza and never completely recovered from the setback. The Norse, in the third period, closed in on the Axmen to within nine tallies of the Northmen but this proved to be the turning point as the Norkies gradually regaled its shooting eye and at the end of the third quarter commanded a 51-37 lead.

Wartburg was simply unable to come up with enough sharp-shooting Luther quartet.

Following their 19-9 deficit, the Norsemen, who had been outplayed, outshot and outscored by the Axmen, were able to hold their own.

Harlan Wilson, who sabbed for Ham Peterson, sidelined with a broken toe, provided spark to the Luther attack. He was a constant threat to the Axmen, rebounding well and finding time to flip in 17 points.

Newest Social Organization On Campus, Married Couples' Club Now Recognized

By Frank Pieper

Wartburg's youngest and least publicized organization, the Married Couples' club, has gathered with some regularity for the past two years. But it was not until last fall that a constitution was drawn up and the organization became a fully-recognized campus organization.

The constitution states that "the membership consists of any and all married, registered students of Wartburg College and their spouses."

George Schlueter, junior vice-president, Roger Tellock, freshman vice-president, and Howard Rose, senior secretary-treasurer, comprised the executive committee with Dr. William Holme, the chaplain, serving as adviser.

Meeting the third Sunday evening of each month in the Little Theater provides married students an opportunity to get together socially. The meetings open with devotions followed by a short business session after which the evening is turned over to the program committee.

"When the club had its first formal meeting a couple of years ago," stated Dean of Students Ernest Opperman, co-founder of the Couples' club along with Pres. George Becker, "we hoped that it would provide social gatherings to help solidify the family life of married students."

"Similarly, we hoped that it might in the future serve as a place where the problems of the home might be shared and discussed and where the students and their families might seek aid in solving them."

"I would like to emphasize," said Schlueter, president, "that the Couples' club is for ALL married students and their families. Those who have not attended so far because they may be interested in an organization such as this. Boys and girls are welcome in the Little Theater for persons are desired them."

Applications Due Mar. 8 Call For TV Show For Sel. Service Exam Sent By KWKL-TV

Selective Service National Headquarters announced recently that all eligible students intending to take the 1954 Selective Service College Qualification test should apply for deferment through the administration immediately.

Applications, which may be obtained from any Selective Service board, must be postmarked by midnight, Feb. 26. Results will be reported to the student's local board for immediate deferment consideration.

Recital To Be Held In Old Main Mon.

Students of Miss Ruth Preussner, piano, and C. Robert Larson, violin, will be presented in another miscellany recital, Monday, Mar. 12, noon in room 109 of Old Main.

Derald Rice, senior, will present "Spiritists" by Clementi on the piano, Gretchen Krueger, senior, will sing, and the students will be encouraged to develop and plan their own programs with supervision of the radio and television committee.

Individual individuals and groups are urged to report to the public relations office in Luther Hall for more particulars.

According to Norm Fiedel, pub. rel. representative, the experiential group provides an opportunity for students interested in TV to get practical technical experience.

Students of Miss Ruth Preussner, piano, and C. Robert Larson, violin, will be presented in another miscellany recital, Monday, Mar. 12, noon in room 109 of Old Main.

The postponed recital of Paul Hanselman, senior baritone, which had been scheduled for Jan. 27, will be held Wednesday in the Little Theater at 7:30 p.m.
